Program Information

The field of Addictions Counseling needs professionals who can help those whose lives have been touched by alcohol and drug addiction. The Addictions Counseling program at Butler prepares students to do just that. Students can take all coursework necessary for the Kansas Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services/Addiction and Prevention Services (SRS/AAPS) credential. This credential is required for persons working with addicted clients in a licensed counseling agency. The AAPS credential requires an associates degree which includes or, in addition to, 27 credit hours in addiction courses. After acquiring their associate degree, students can then transfer to a four-year college or university that has a bachelor's degree in addiction studies. Addictions Counseling students will be given an Addictions Counseling Student Handbook at the beginning of their first semester.

The addictions counseling program requires an application process for admission. Program Information

Many of today's criminal justice positions require higher education to enter the profession or to advance to supervisory levels. Whatever your career, Butler's police science program is here to help you reach your goals. Butler's courses are approved by the United States Department of Justice for local police-training schools and meet requirements of Kansas law enforcement agencies for employment preparation and in-service professional training. You can also transfer to a four-year program.

The Associate in Arts degree is designed for students planning to transfer to a Bachelor degree program.

The Associate in Applied Science degree is designed for students seeking employment in the field of criminal justice following completion of their two-year degree and requires a minimum of 40 credit hours of course requirements in addition to the general education requirements.

After Butler

Career Opportunities include Police Officer, Federal Agent, Correction Officer and Court Officer.

The City of El Dorado Fire Department, in conjunction with the Butler Community College Fire Science Department Residency Program:

The Fire Science residency program is an opportunity for college students who are enrolled as fire science majors at Butler Community College to gain a two-year experience working with a municipal fire department, while achieving an associate's degree through Butler Community College.

The residency program will provide positive training and experience to men or women pursuing a career in fire and emergency services. While enrolled, the program will provide a learning environment where students may take advantage of college level instruction, continuing education seminars, and skill development through on-the-job training.

Fire protection and emergency services in every city is recognized as a vitally important service. New and unusual problems resulting from rapid technological advancements, urbanization, industry, and modern modes of transportation have drastically broadened the scope of fire protection responsibilities. The fire and emergency services of today have become more technical, requiring individuals working together to provide public education, fire protection, emergency medical services, as well as mitigating hazardous materials incidents, and performing fire suppression and rescues.
